The White Star steamship Britannic was the only transatlantic steamship which arrived yesterday on schedule time. In spite of the tempestuous weather on the ocean she was only nine days, thirteen hours and filteen minutes from Queenstown to Sandy Hook. She encountered a heavy gale and a continuer of a heavy gale and a confused sea on January 27, and only made 160 miles in the twenty-four hours. Beginning on January 29, and continuing for three days, she battled with a fierce hurricane and high seed on the star of the

BROUGHT TO THIS CITY.

Sergeant Slevin, of the Detective Bureau, arrived at Police Healquarters from Chicago yesterday afternoon with Leon Cronson, the dishonest travelling salesman for Goldsmith & Kuhn, of No. 35 John-st. Cronson is a Hebrew, twenty-eight years old, and has a wife at No. 143 Clinton-st. He was entrusted with diamonds and jewelry valued at $33,000 when he left this city for the West on December 15. Before he reached Chicago he had sold jewelry valued at $5,000, and sent checks for that amount to his employers. The firm did not hear from him again, and became convinced that he meant to embezzle the remainder of the property. On account of the loss Goldsmith & Kuhn were forced to make an assignment. Private detectives traced the fugit vs. to several Western cities, but were unable to capture him. Circulars were sent out by the police for his arrest also. About ten days ago Chief of Police Doyle, of Chicago, sent word to Superintendent Walling that Cronson was believed to be in that city under an assumed name. Sergeant Slevin was sent to Chicago in company with Mr. Goldsmith and arrested Cronson there on Tuesday of last week.

believed to be in that city under an assumed name. Sergeant Slevin was sent to Chicago in company with Mr, Goldsmith and arrested Cronson there on Tuesday of last week.

After being locked up for one day Cronson made a full confession, and expressed a readiness to help Mr. Goldsmith recover the diamonds and jewelry. He said he first formed the idea of embezzling the property in Kansas City. To Joseph Schwartz, a pawnbroker of that city, he offered diamonds worth $10,000 for $2,000.

Schwartz paid him $400 on account, and on the following day refused to pay more, accusing him of theft and threatening to have him arrested. Cronson fled from Kansas City to Chleago, where he kept in hiding and entrusted the remainder of his booty to a friend, Julius Edwin, who promised to place the property in the keeping of a safe deposit company. Cronson told the police that Edwin could produce the jewelry and diamonds. Edwin was arrested. He at first declared that he knew nothing about the stolen property, but after remaining a prisoner at the police central office for a day he also made a confession. Edwin had intended to keep the jewels. He had sent them to his sister. Mrs. Hester Harrison, at South Bend, Ind., but afterward he had asked her by telegraph to return them. She, however, kept back diamonds worth about $3,000. Edwin had divided the remainder into three packages and had them sent out of Chicago by three express companies, to be kept at separate places until they were called for. One package was sent to St. Louis, another to Cleveland, and the third to Pittsburg. At the request of the Chicago police the express companies recalled the packages and delivered them to Edwin, who returned them to Cronson, and Cronson handed the jewels to Sergeant Slevin. Edwin also sent a dispatch to his sister, demanding the diamonds which she had kept. He was then set at liberty. Cronson came to this city without a requisition. He was locked up at Police Headquarters. Schwartz, the Kansas City pawnbroker, was in this city several days a

RELIEVING THE WORTHY POOR.

RELIEVING THE WORTHY POOR.

The Down Town Relief Bureau, which has for its object the thorough investigation of all cases of alleged distress, the suppression of professional beggars, and the relief of the deserving poor, began its work less than two years ago among the poor of the city below Canal-st. The Bureau is under the charge of J. R. Koosevelt, Dr. Richard H. Derby, Nathaniel A. Prentiss, J. F. D. Lanier, C. E. Ogdeu, and Francis M. Bacon. Its annual report shows increased usefulness and a large number of new subscribers. The aim is to act as the almoner among the worthy poor of moneys which men in the hurry of business would otherwise give hastily to the unworthy. The report shows 5,035 applications for telief; 2,083 were relieved; 296 were found unworthy; 229 did not come within the limit of the Bureau work, and the remainder were referred to other societies organized for relief of special cases, or to public charitable agencies. Employment was found for 56 persons. The superintendent made 1,169 visits for investigation and relief, and 67 professional beggars were detected and suppressed. Additional funds are needed. Subscriptions may be sent to the freasurer, J. F. D. Lanier, No. 26 Nassau-st., or delivered to the authorized collector, W. P. Lyon. Each subscriber receives a book of tickets, which may be detached and given to the applicant for aid. Among the subscribers are the Adams Express Company, Vernou H. Brown, Bradstreet & Co., R. G. Dun, Pabbit & Chaumeey, Grinnell, Minturn & Co., Hartley & Graham, Adrian Iselin, Low, Harriman & Co., Rossevelt & Sons, Anson Phelps Stokes, United States Illuminating Company, J. OPENING A NEW TRADE EXCHANGE.

The 356 members of the New-York Naval Stores and Tobacco Exchange, which was organized about two weeks ago, met at No. 66 Beaver-st, yesterday, to take part in the formal opening of the Exchange. Joseph D. Evans, after welcoming the greats and congratulating the members, introduced Mayor Edsen, who spoke of the great advantages of the commercial exchanges to the city's welfare. He described their introduction by the organization of the Produce Exchange, referred to the progress of the many now in this city, and told how much they had done for the development of trade. Remarks were made by Zophar Mills, D. G. Watts, ex-president of the Produce Exchange; J. H. Herrick, president of the Produce Exchange; Thomas P. Ball, Theodore Rader, John Commerden, and George R. Hayne. After the membership reaches 400 the bittation fee will be increased from $150 to $300, OPENING A NEW TRADE EXCUANGE.

EXAMINATION OF EDWARD 8, TAPPAN.

EXAMINATION OF EDWARD S. TAPPAN.

At the examination of Edward S. Tappan for the murder of Mrs. Maybee and her daughter, before Justice Betts yesterday in Jamaica, Halstead H. Frost identified two five-dollar bills as those which had been given him by Tappan when they met on the road leading from Norwich to Oyster Bay after Tappan's confession had been written and signed. When Tappan handed these bills to witness he said: "Here, I've got the money, you'd better take sti," alluding to the ten dollars mentioned in his confession. Said the witness:

Before Tappan got the money, he said, going up the hill towards his home: "I don't know whether the old woman will give me that money." He then said: "I'll tell her I want it to pay a lawyer." He asked me to go with him to get the money. He said that he wanted to show me something in the room; that the money his brother John gave him was in the bureau in his bed-room. I went into the house and into the bed-room. His wife I went into the house and into the bed-room, all of which I did not hear. She said that he was foolish to make a confession, and that he would make a mistake if he did. Ed., with considerable spirit, said to his wife: "If you don't want me to go, I won't, but you must take all the blame." To this she made no reply. He then told his wife that he wanted ten dollars. She went to the bureau and Ed. Tappan with the murders.

As no other witnesses were present the examination was adjourned until to-morrow.

No Court of Oyer and Terminer will be held in Queens County before April, and District Attorney Fleming is being urged to ask the Governor to appoint a special term and authorize the drawing of a Grand Jury this month, in order to try Rugg, against whom the evidence of the commission of the Maybee murders is thought to be conclusive.

THE BURDEN OF A DOUBLE POLICE FORCE.

In Newark yesterday Judge Dixon granted a writ of certiorari to Judge Fort, the counsel for the Republican captain and lieutenants of police, who are contesting the right of the Common Council to remove them by resolutions under an ordinance passed last month and approved by the Mayor on February 1. The ordinance was intended to repeal an ordinance passed in 1883 forbidding removals in the department except for cause. The Republican officials contend that the repealing ordinance does not give the Council the legal anthority to make partisan removals. Judge Dixon in giving his decision said that he acted, not because he was satisfied of the invalidity of the ordinance but because in view of the doubts existing, the parties interested were entitled to a full decision of the Supreme Court at the next term. The effect of the decision is to send all the proceedings in the case before the court on February 19, and decisions will be given either on April 1 or June 8. In the meantime both sets of officers will be entitled to pay from the city. THE BURDEN OF A DOUBLE POLICE FORCE. pay from the city.

THE GRAND ARMY OF THE PEOPLE DEAD.

A few weeks ago Captain William S. Ellsworth distributed in the newspaper offices "a prospec us of the aims and organization of the Grand Army of the People." This army proposed to complete its mobilization on January 2 and was determined to elect a President and Vice-President of the United States in November. The most suggestive plank in the platform on which the G. A. P. stood was a general bankruptcy law. Captain Ellsworth said that the world would hear more of the G. A. P. before the end of January.

The world has waited since then with intense anxiety, but nothing has been heard of the army. Yesterday a Transune reporter called on a distinguished General in this city, noted for the agnity with which he changes his politics. His name was attached to the document mentioned above. He said that the G. A. P., had been smothered in its several and collective cradles. THE GRAND ARMY OF THE PEOPLE DEAD.

MR. REILLY GIVES UP ONE OFFICE,
Alderman Reilly yesterday resigned the clerkship of the Seventh District Civil Court, section 55 of the charter providing that no one can hold two city or county offices. The controller has refused to pay the Aldermen their salaries for January, because Mr. Reilly's name appears on two payrolls, Yesterday he decided to pay the other Aldermen and await the opinion of the Corporation Counsel in the case of Mr. Reilly. This opinion will probably be rendered to-day. The question whether Mr. Reilly has vacated his seat as Alderman by holding two offices is being discussed by the members of the Board.

The Controller has decided that he cannot pay Maurice F. Holahan, deputy clerk of the Board of Aldermen, on the ground that he should have been passed upon by the Civil Service examiners. In the case of William H. Moloney, the general clerk, the Controller is undecided, because Mr. Moloney has been for several years clerk of the Board. MR. REILLY GIVES UP ONE OFFICE.

A SUCCESSFUL ENTERPRISE.

nence, commenced life as poor boys. This was true of Peter Cooper, A. T. Stewart, Gov. Morgan, the elder Vanderbilt, Evarts, Edison, Draper, Dr. Samuel Pitcher and others, who have stamped their genius and enterprise upon the city of New-York. To men unaided by inheritance, New-York is indebted for her metropolitan influence, opulence and philanthropy. Here is largely concentrated the nation's banking capital and its commerce. Besides her thirteen hundred churches, imperial park, great bridge and innumerable palatial resi-dences, New-York is the largest manufacturing city in America. With her suburbs, she has 18,000 manufacturing establishments, run by 316,000 operatives. employing $286,000,000 capital, and turning out a yearly product of $780,000,000. Among the notable establishments of this kind, which have obtained national celebrity, is one observed by tourists as they pass upon the elevated railroad, opposite St. Paul's Church-Yard. As Dr. Samuel Pitcher, the From this establishment emanates not alone the numer climes indulge " the toying smiles of redundant health, but also the familiar annual New-York " Receipt Book man. The success attained by him during the epidem morphine or other injurious substance."

Castoria in a small kettle over a stove in his kitchen Soon the kettle gave way to a cauldron, and finally the cauldron gave way to the immense steam vats and busy lofts of the present great laboratory building on Fulton and New-Church Streets, New-York. In one department kept under lock and key may be found samples of the uint, senna and other ingredients used in manufacturing Castoria, with scales, retorts and chemical apparatus, by which every article is weighed, tested, measured and graded. Any article not up to the exact standard of quality is rejected, for " to nothing," remarked the super-intendent, " is the success of Castoria so greatly due as to its uniform quality." Unripe, decayed, or otherwise improperly cured ingredients are removed from the building the extracts, filling, corking, labelling, wrapping and boxing the bottles, cutting corks, printing directions and the familiar Receipt Book, keeping the books and ship-ping the goods, several hundred men, boys and girls are employed. We were informed that there is hardly a in, steamboat, express or ocean steamer leaving New York without being partially freighted with this Castoria. Thus from small beginnings Peter Cooper with his alone dignified labor, and shown to younger men the vantage of undeviating integrity in what they undertake, have received their praise, and by honest dealings have amassed fortunes, by which they could found institutions and in a larger sense become the acknowledged benefacors of mankind. " Honor rests not in name, but in the heart, founder of this great institution, has apparently cap-tured the mothers, not only of this nation, but of all Israel, and through his printing presses and otherwise is exerting a slient but consequential influence in the homes of millions of persons, a few words respecting the nan and his enterprise will be of cosmopolitan interest. ous bottles of Castoria for which it is said children in ai and Almanac, filled with interesting stories, which probably is read by half our people. Dr. Pitcher graduated at the head of his class, settled at Hyannis, near Boston, and rose to eminence in his profession while still a young of cholera infantum, which prevailed with such frightful fatality in the Eastern States in 1850, caused Dr. Pitcher to select children's complaints as a specialty in his medleal practice. To preserve infant life thereafter became Dr. Pitcher's mission. Realizing that the average of human life is less than twelve years, he saw that a malority of our species die in infancy and childhood. He lectured in Boston, Providence and elsewhere, upon the physiological, dietetic and pathological treatment of children, and particularly upon the injurious effects of narcotics and opiates, so frequently administered in the narcotics and optaics, so required as panaceas. Dr. Pitcher's practice extended so rapidly and far that it became necessary for him to adopt a general prescription for general use. Entertaining a repugnance toward secret remedies and empiric methods, he boldly printed the formula of his prescription on his labels and published it to the world, thereby challenging the attention of physicians everywhere. It was very generally adopted by the profession as not coming under the head of "secret remedies." A report made by the Pathological Society of New-York in 1862, says: "The Castoria prepared by Dr. Samuel Pitcher has been found to be a valuable adjunct to the materia medica, and free from
